So happy to learn that Meena Bindra, the founder of the well known apparel brand, Biba, has penned her memoirs. Her remarkable story needs to be read.

She was married young to a government officer and was a housewife. To earn some pocket money, she started designing and making women's clothes from home. It led to the foundation of Biba in 1988, which is estimated to be worth over Rs 1000 crores today.

As one of the pioneering women entrepreneurs of India, she is an inspiration to all. You don't need any background in business or a lot of resources to succeed.

Meena ji had an idea, a small loan of Rs 8,000 and tremendous determination.

Trust yourself, start small and always think big.

business, and enjoy being an officer's wife

Meena Bindra launched her memoir, A Stitch in Time: The Biba Story, published by Rupa Books in Gurugram's DLF Camellias. It was attended by Smriti Irani among others.

BALCO's New Year celebration saw over 1,000 attendees come together for an exciting evening. The atmosphere was filled with energy as everyone danced to music, while kids had a blast in the Fun Zone, enjoying various activities. A lucky draw added to the excitement, with fantastic prizes up for grabs. The event was a great mix of fun, laughter, and togetherness, highlighting the spirit of Balconians. It was a night that set a positive tone for the upcoming year.

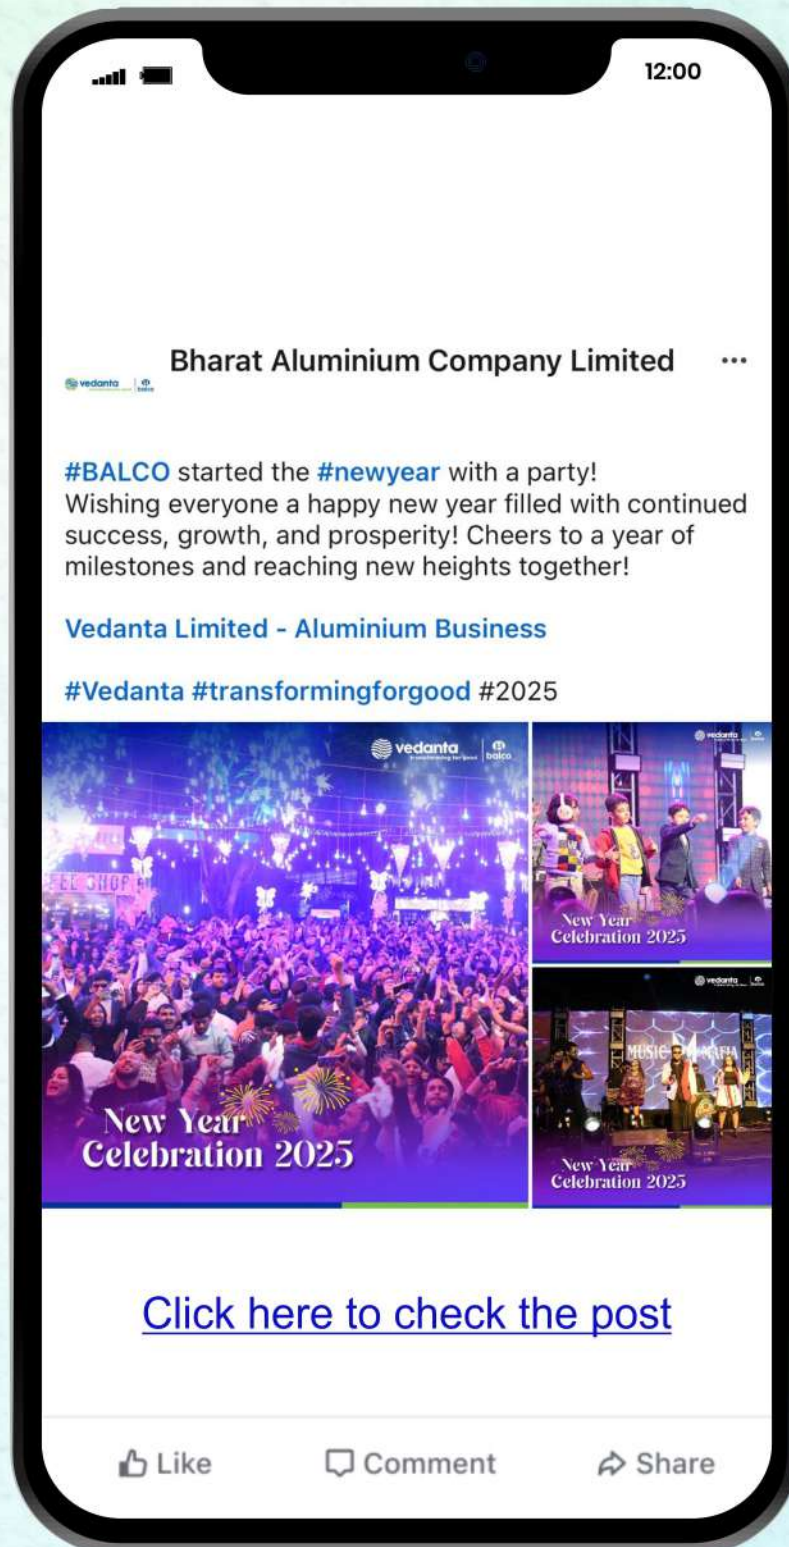

Here is special edit made by Raghav Gupta who captured the essence of the New Year celebration compiling it into an engaging reel. Click on the image to relive the unforgettable moments!
