BALCO, under Project Connect, conducted Winter Camp, providing academic support and enrichment to 200+ students from grades 6th to 12th. This camp focused on board exam preparation and bridging learning gaps through activity-based learning, including puzzles, storytelling, and model-making, alongside interactive quizzes, games, and technological integration. Tailored sessions enhanced literacy, numeracy, science, and problem-solving skills, fostering skills such as collaboration and creativity. With regular assessments and individual feedback, the camp not only bolstered academic performance but also inspired confidence and a passion for lifelong learning.

BALCO launches month-long awareness drive on World AIDS Day

■ Our Correspondent

KORBA, Jan 3

BHARAT Aluminium Company Limited (BALCO), India's iconic aluminium producer, observed World AIDS Day by launching a comprehensive month-long awareness campaign.

The initiative, held under BALCO's 'Arogya' project, reached out to over 31,000 individuals in Korba district, focusing on the theme 'Take the Right Path: My Health, My Right!'

In partnership with the District Health Department, Social Revival Group of Urban, Rural and Tribal (SROUT), and the Chhattisgarh State AIDS Control Society (CGSACS), BALCO organised awareness programmes, including the 'Jagrukta Rath' campaign, which employed audio-visual aids and informational materials.

The campaign aimed to increase awareness about HIV/AIDS, promote factual information, reduce stigma, and advocate for preventive measures among high-risk behavior groups, youth, and community. BALCO's CEO & Director, Rajesh Kumar, emphasised the company's commitment to creating a future where awareness serves as a powerful shield against HIV.

"Through this initiative, we aim to fosinformed more society. reduce transmission, and support healthier living," he said. Dr S N Keshari, Chief Medical and Health Officer, District Hospital, Korba, urged citizens to step forward, seek knowledge, and get tested for HIV/AIDS. "Every development block and district has integrated testing and counseling centers (ICTC) offering free tests and counseling," he added.

The campaign included awareness sessions in high-risk areas, training for youth leaders, and health camps providing free testing and counseling services. Over 200 members of high-risk groups, including truck drivers and migrant workers, were sensitized about HIV/AIDS prevention and available support services. BALCO's 'Arogya' project provides quality primary healthcare services, including awareness campaigns on HIV, tuberculosis, and substance abuse, as well as maternal and child health, nutrition, and anemia. The project has reached over 40,000 people through various health services, and trained over 2,000 mothers to improve childcare and nutrition practices.
