Teacher Training
Program on Experiential and Multidisciplinary Learning

We have seen it before, whenever there is great uncertainty in the global economy, the price of gold rises to record highs. As the safest investment, gold is going to shine. Forecasts expect it to rise well above the current $3000 per ounce level.

This is the best time for India to revive and revitalize its existing gold assets. We only produce 1 tonne of gold every year and consume around 800 tonnes. The difference is imported.

At this price, investors will be willing to put in the resources required to produce more gold in India. Since these assets already exist, the timelines will be much shorter than any new project.

Let's seize the opportunity.

BALCO, in collaboration with the Vidya Bhawan Society, organised a two-day teacher training program under Project Connect. The initiative aimed to enhance experiential and multidisciplinary learning through innovative teaching methodologies. The program saw participation from over 70 teachers and students representing 21 schools. The training included a variety of interactive activities such as experiments, games, short films, and model-based learning. Sessions covered key scientific themes along with mathematical concepts. Additionally, a special session highlighted the role of community engagement in education.
