CHAIRMAN CORNER

Sometimes, big things can happen in small packages. In Assam, I got this feeling very strongly. It has the possibility to create the world's seventh mega basin in oil. It can follow the American model of multiple small wells with the participation of many entrepreneurs including start-ups.

The key is exploration. Government is simplifying clearances by making them online and providing all the data available. An investment of around Rs 5cr to 10cr is possible to get started. And both loans and equity are available to raise the money.

Producing more oil and gas domestically will help reduce vulnerability to import. It will also help provide cheaper oil and gas to the common man since the cost of production of oil in India is no more than $20 per barrel.

Assam can also encourage the small or medium-sized chai bagan. New tea gardens may be free from regulations and other permissions, which will create jobs and entrepreneurs. Local farmers, and entrepreneurs should be encouraged to create boutique brands of superior quality that can conquer global markets.

The vision of PM Narendra Modi and the energy of CM Himanta Biswa Sarma are going to make Assam a leading state.

BALCO Celebrates Shivratri

BALCO launched a Hospital Information Management System, revolutionizing healthcare with seamless digital integration. This system enhances user experience by enabling online appointments, real-time medical history access, and automated health monitoring. Employees and business partners can now book IME/PME slots with face verification and instant fitness certificates, while critical alerts reach doctors instantly. With SAP, CLMS, and lab equipment integration, real-time data capture ensures precision, and paperless operations with Smart Pens in IPD boost efficiency.

BALCO hosted a Cancer Awareness Training for female employees, reinforcing the commitment to workplace well-being. The session provided insights into the different stages of cancer, early warning signs, and preventive measures to promote proactive health management. Experts also emphasized on the importance of regular screenings, lifestyle choices, and early detection in improving outcomes empowering employees with the knowledge to safeguard themselves and their families.
