Industrial clusters are an engine of economic growth which can generate massive jobs. Vedanta is going to set up two industrial parks, one for aluminium and another for zinc and silver. These will be created on a not-for-profit basis. Vedanta, as the anchor industry, will ensure supply of raw material and energy, mostly renewable. Entrepreneurs can set up hundreds, even thousands, of downstream industries and other associated enterprises. We will also consider similar parks for oil and gas, and iron and steel.

An industrial park can greatly increase the competitiveness of manufacturing. The cost of transporting raw material is cut down. Energy can be sourced and secured at an affordable rate. There is common infrastructure for all. Then there are synergies between companies that can be leveraged.

For India, industrial parks are a good way to achieve scale in different sectors and across the value chain. They will be transformative not just for entrepreneurs but also employees and workers who can avail of best in class townships and facilities that will come up around the cluster. This is a proven model across the world. I am excited for Vedanta to lead in the mineral, metals and energy sectors. The biggest satisfaction I get is in seeing startups and MSMEs prosper and grow. Industrial parks will be enablers for them.

Rahul, my manager has been extremely helpful in my professional growth...

That's really good Anjali! You should definitely let them know of how grateful you are to them...

An appreciation is an appreciation, it does not see senior or junior. BALCO brings you a new way to recognize and celebrate your colleagues.
